Please visit our new donor recognition wall located in our renovated lobby. We are extremely grateful to our donors who helped make this donor wall possible.
Great things are happening at Good Samaritan Hospital. We saw the opening of the new lobby featuring our donor wall with a beautiful timeline of the hospital’s founding and rich history of caring to all in our community.

The first group of physicians moved into the Medical Pavilion, and the hospital continues to move forward with further renovations to bring you and your family the best in quality patient health care. Good Samaritan Hospital could not do what it does without the generous support of our benefactors and our caring community.

In this issue of Good News, we highlight the students at Immaculate Heart High School and Middle School for their commitment in giving back to their community through their fundraising efforts to support women cancer survivors and Helen’s Room. We are grateful to the Rest Cottage Association of The Ebell of Los Angeles for their generosity in helping Good Sam provide services and programs for women in the Cancer Services Department, and for expectant mothers and babies at The Davajan-Cabal Center for Perinatal Medicine. We also wish to thank Dr. Andrew Deutsch and his radiology team at Renaissance Imaging Medical Associates for their service to Good Sam and commitment as a Partner in Health. Our doctors, nurses and staff are driven to provide our patients with world-class, innovative, compassionate and effective health care today, tomorrow and for years to come.

We thank all of our partners in philanthropy for helping us make great things happen for our patients and their families at Good Samaritan Hospital. With your continued loyalty, we look forward to further improvements at our hospital in order to provide exceptional care to all in our community.

Very truly yours,

Charles T. Munger

Immaculate Heart High School and Middle School is an independent, Catholic, college preparatory school for girls in grades 6 through 12, located on a beautiful hillside property in Los Feliz. Since its founding in 1906, they have been educating the hearts and minds of over 10,000 young women from all socio-economic, ethnic and religious backgrounds. The school boasts many achievements from academics to athletics, but what makes their students unique is their commitment to giving back to their community.
A community service event that has grown in recent years is the school’s ongoing support of Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October. Every year, Maureen Rodriguez, Athletic Director and moderator for the Girls’ Athletic Association, encourages the athletic teams to get involved during the month-long activities. Last October, students from both middle and high schools came together to raise money and bring awareness to breast cancer, something which has hit close to home within their close-knit Immaculate Heart community.

Carol Cobbs, Immaculate Heart Assistant Registrar and Moderator of the Black Student Association, and Amy Fujimoto, an English teacher at the middle school, are both breast cancer survivors. About three years ago, Carol and Maureen researched local nonprofits and found Helen’s Room at Good Samaritan Hospital. Rosemary Boston, Manager of the Cancer Data Center, oversees Helen’s Room which provides free wigs, hats, scarves, mastectomy bras, and services such as support groups to low-income and under-insured women with cancer. Once the students learned of Helen’s Room, they were very interested in supporting the cause especially since many of them knew someone who had been touched by cancer. They read the beautiful story behind Helen and her friendship with Monica Kahn (the founder of Helen’s Room) and were moved by how Helen’s Room came about. See pages 6-7 for more on Helen’s Room.
Campus student leaders Sloane Swallow, Alexandra Nichols, Maile Domantay, Justine Katz and Korina Hernandez were involved in spearheading the fundraising efforts for Helen's Room. The entire student body decorated the school with pink garlands to promote breast cancer awareness and research. Pandas with Purpose, the middle school outreach service group, sold baked goods during lunch and after school. The Girls' Athletic Association sponsored a “Jeans & Pink Day” featuring a barbeque and concession stand before the high school’s special “Breast Cancer Awareness” volleyball matches. Immaculate Heart's fall sports teams wore pink during matches and games in October. The enthusiasm the students have shown in supporting Helen’s Room has grown since they made their first gift of $1,200 back in 2014. “Thanks to the students' joint efforts, $2,300 was raised in 2016 – almost double the amount donated in the first year to Helen’s Room,” recalls Maureen.
What made this experience extra special for the students was the opportunity to visit Helen’s Room. Rosemary and her staff gave Alexandra, Korina, Justine and Sloane a tour of the department. “We went to the room where the ladies try on wigs. There was a room for their kids to play too. It was different. When you hear of women with cancer you don’t realize all that they go through. The tour showed us how much Helen’s room was doing for them (the ladies) in providing scarves and blankets and that made me happy knowing that I can make a difference in their lives,” says Korina. Some of the girls’ mothers or other family members had been diagnosed with breast cancer like Alexandra, whose mom is a survivor; “raising awareness for breast cancer and Helen’s Room really makes you reevaluate your values and priorities. It changes you.”

Good Samaritan Hospital is extremely grateful to the entire Immaculate Heart family for their generosity to Helen’s Room. Immaculate Heart Schools’ dedication to Helen’s Room helps to ensure Good Sam continues to provide the resources and services available to cancer survivors. The students at Immaculate Heart are truly the “Giving Hearts” of our community and we are thankful for all they do for Good Sam!

If you wish to make a gift to Helen’s Room, please contact Brian Thorne, Vice President, Fund Development at (213) 482-2774 or bthorne@goodsam.org.
“One of the most important things I’ve learned is that the greatest gift you can give anybody is to listen,” words Monica Kahn lives by as an advocate for women cancer survivors struggling with the physical and emotional effects of such a deadly disease. Monica’s passion for this cause goes back to her childhood friend Helen Rindfleisch, who was diagnosed with lung cancer and passed away in 1992. Monica saw how Helen struggled daily living with a terrible disease, and the enormous impact it had on her self-image. “Helen was very beautiful and it was extremely important to her that she be able to get up every day and put on her makeup and look good,” explains Monica. “It was during that journey that I realized that I felt very comfortable working with people that were going through cancer. I wanted to open a positive appearance center for low-income and under-insured patients.”

“When women come to Helen’s Room they don’t just receive free wigs and products, they gain back a bit of their self-esteem, confidence and a sense of looking and feeling normal, and that’s what makes Helen’s Room so special.”

— Monica Kahn

In 1998, Monica founded Helen’s Room, a place of acceptance where there are no stares and patients don’t have to hide their hair loss or their feelings of fear and vulnerability. Trained counselors work with each woman on a one-on-one basis, providing ongoing comfort, resources and support. “When women come to Helen’s Room they don’t just receive free wigs and products, they gain back a bit of their self-esteem, confidence and a sense of looking and feeling normal, and that’s what makes Helen’s Room so special,” says Monica.

Helen’s Room is run by an all-volunteer staff and made possible by generous donations from individuals and organizations alike such as Immaculate Heart High School and Middle School and the Rest Cottage Association of The Ebell of Los Angeles.

To learn more about Helen’s Room or to make an appointment, please call (213) 977-2429.

Founded in 1894, the Ebell of Los Angeles (Ebell) is a civic-minded women’s organization located in the mid-Wilshire area of Los Angeles. The Ebell’s mission is to provide social, recreational and educational opportunities for women. During the early part of the 20th Century, many middle and low-income women were in need of respite or convalescent care. In 1918, the Ebell members formed the Rest Cottage Association (RCA), and focused their philanthropic efforts by providing small convalescent homes as “a place of rest for women.” By 1980, the Ebell sold its last convalescent residence, and used the money to create the Rest Cottage Association Endowment. Today, the members of the Rest Cottage Association continue to support a variety of causes benefitting women such as transitional housing, domestic violence shelters, reentry housing, and maternity homes, just to name a few.
A relationship that began in 1995, the Rest Cottage Association has been supporting women’s programs and services at Good Sam for close to 22 years. RCA recently directed significant funding to support the hospital’s Mother and Baby Care Campaign to provide the most advanced perinatal care to both mom and baby at The Davajan-Cabal Center for Perinatal Medicine.

“...When Brian Thorne (Good Samaritan Hospital’s Vice President of Fund Development) told us about the Mother and Baby Care Campaign and explained the importance of it, we said great. Our mission is to be of service to women,” says Randi Jones, RCA Vice Chair.

“The amazing thing about Good Samaritan is that they have been in the community for over a century and generations after generations have been raising money to support the hospital. We (Rest Cottage Association Committee) just happened to be the ones that are sitting in the chairs guiding the RCA Endowment today. We stand on the shoulders of women who came before us who had the foresight to create the Rest Cottage Association and the endowment,” adds RCA Chair, Patricia (Patty) Lombard.
In addition to their commitment to the Mother and Baby Care Campaign, the RCA is also extremely dedicated to Helen’s Room at Good Samaritan Hospital. The RCA also directed funding to Helen’s Room, setting up an endowment to provide future services for cancer patients, and also donated 130 hand-knit blankets for women undergoing chemotherapy. Cynthia Comsky, RCA Co-Chair of Social Services explains. “Several years back, I went on a tour of Helen’s Room and I saw the blankets that were given to the women to use during chemotherapy. I thought there might be a better way to wrap these women with love….So we started knitting blankets and donating them to Helen’s Room. So far we have handmade 130 blankets – each is different, colorful and special.”

The Rest Cottage Association of The Ebell continues to be a champion for women today now more than ever. Good Samaritan Hospital is grateful to organizations like the Rest Cottage Association for their meaningful gift that will impact the lives of so many women, expectant mothers and their babies. We appreciate the RCA’s kindness and friendship throughout the years, and we thank them for their long-lasting service to our community.

Dr. Andrew Deutsch is the founder of Renaissance Imaging Medical Associates (RIMA), the largest radiology medical group in California and one of the top 20 in the nation. Dr. Deutsch and his team are on the forefront of the revolutionary changes that are taking place in radiology, and they are a very special part of the Good Samaritan Hospital community. “It is such a privilege to be a part of this hospital. We started providing radiology services here several years ago and it has been an honor. It is something we really value. I think we have been doing a really good job and we are going to get better and better,” says Dr. Deutsch.

Dr. Deutsch has been a leader in the dramatic transformation in the field of radiology. A prolific researcher, he is the author of more than 50 scientific papers and four textbooks on radiology, MRIs and the musculoskeletal system. He has also been a pioneer in changing the way that radiological services are delivered. The specialization of radiology services is an important advancement in health care and reduces diagnostic errors, delays in treatment and unnecessary treatment.

Dr. Deutsch and his colleagues bring the highest level of radiology services to all our patients. On any given day a team of 20-25 radiologists are reviewing and consulting on patients’ images around the clock.
Due to Good Sam’s partnership with Dr. Deutsch and his group of radiologists, the hospital has been providing specialized radiology services years before many other hospitals. Dr. Deutsch and his colleagues bring the highest level of radiology services to all our patients. On any given day a team of 20-25 radiologists are reviewing and consulting on patients’ images around the clock. “It is an important part of better patient care,” shares Dr. Deutsch.

Focusing on patient care doesn’t stop in the Radiology Department for Dr. Deutsch. Since 2014, Dr. Deutsch has been a very generous supporter of Good Sam by giving to the community he serves through our physician donor group, Partners in Health. Physicians who give an annual contribution of $1,000 or more to the hospital become members of this donor group. “I feel a sense of gratification in giving back. I am a big admirer of Mr. Munger (Charles T. Munger, Good Samaritan Hospital’s Chairman of the Board of Trustees) and he said something like, ‘I’m not going to need the money where I am going anyway!’” he explains. “I feel like that. I’ve been very fortunate and I want to do something to give back.”

Since its inception, Good Sam physicians through Partners in Health have raised close to $4M to support medical programs, services and highly specialized medical technology for the hospital. Recently, Dr. Deutsch was presented with the Chairman’s Award, given to employees and physicians whose cumulative giving is $30,000 or more, at the 2017 Good Company Campaign Awards Luncheon.

“There are a tremendous number of people who work at this hospital that give – that is extraordinary. Giving back is a way of life for the Good Samaritan Hospital family. That says something very special about the Hospital,” said Dr. Deutsch. “That is a very significant statement. Many of those people have not been as fortunate financially, but they still give to the Hospital. That is what makes Good Sam – Good Sam. It is a very special place.”

GOOD NEWS SPRING 2017

Good Samaritan Hospital is grateful to our physicians who are truly partners in health for their service, unfailing generosity and dedication to our Good Sam community. To learn more about Partners in Health, please contact Kim Cabral, Annual Giving Manager, Fund Development at (213) 977-2935 or kcabral@goodsam.org.
Good Samaritan Hospital's 13th Golf Classic was held on April 24, 2017 at the beautiful Wilshire Country Club in Los Angeles. We wish to express our sincere appreciation to all of our generous sponsors who partnered with us to make the Classic a tremendous success. This year’s golf event has been the best by far!

Once again, the proceeds of the event will support mother and baby care through the Davajan-Cabal Center for Perinatal Medicine. The renovations and upgrades to the NICU, Postpartum, and Labor & Delivery units have begun in an effort to provide our new mothers and their families a special and memorable experience as they welcome their babies into the world.

Good Samaritan Hospital’s physicians were honored for their service and excellence at the annual dinner gala hosted by Board Chairman, Charles T. Munger and the Board of Trustees on Saturday, January 28, 2017 at The California Club.

Physicians and their guests enjoyed a wonderful evening featuring dinner, music and dancing. Mr. Munger, Mr. Andrew B. Leeka, Good Samaritan Hospital President and CEO, and Margaret Bates, M.D., Chief of Staff, recognized our physicians and expressed words of gratitude and thanks to our doctors for their exceptional medical care they provide to all in our community.

Good Samaritan Hospital’s incredible team of physicians and staff treat and deliver care to thousands of patients at our specialized facilities including the Heart & Vascular Center, the Davajan-Cabal Center for Perinatal Medicine, and the Samaritan Comprehensive Orthopaedic Center. Our physicians have generously supported the hospital and its programs through Partners in Health, the physician giving program. This past year alone, our physicians contributed over $120,000 to hospital services and departments.

We are privileged to have such an outstanding medical staff at Good Samaritan Hospital!
On a beautiful fall evening, our Chairman, Charles T. Munger, and the Board of Trustees hosted our annual Major Donor Dinner at The California Club in downtown Los Angeles. Along with Mr. Munger, Andrew B. Leeka, President and CEO and Margaret Bates, M.D., Chief of Staff, greeted and acknowledged our major donors for the significant financial contributions they made to Good Sam last year.

In 2016, over 100 individuals, corporations and foundations alike made an annual gift of $5,000 or more to Good Sam to be considered a major donor of the hospital. Our major donors contributed over $7M to support the hospital, and helped make a difference in the lives of our patients. $5M was directed toward specific programs like our Mother and Baby Care Campaign and cancer services, and $2M was focused on unrestricted funds for the care of the underserved.

Good Samaritan Hospital appreciates all our major benefactors who share in the mission of caring for others. Without the generous support of our major donors, we could not continue to provide hope and healing to our patients and their families.

We are so very thankful to Mrs. Susan M. Blumenthal and Mrs. Marlbeth A. Borthwick, Trustees of the hospital who give of their time and talents for coordinating a lovely evening.

Good Samaritan Hospital is pleased to welcome Mr. Todd Goodall as our new Vice President of Business Development. Todd joined Good Sam in October 2016, and brings a successful track record in strategic planning, business development, and operations. Most recently, he was with Dignity Health Systems where he excelled in developing innovative and collaborative relationships with hospital and physician leaders, and in creating key strategic initiatives. Todd is a high performing leader with achievements across acute and post-acute care, outpatient services, and physician practices.

When Todd learned of Good Samaritan Hospital he was immediately interested in joining our Good Sam family. “The reputation of the hospital, our outstanding physicians, the quality of the staff, and state-of-the-art medical equipment make my job easy. The physicians at Good Sam are by far the best in the greater Los Angeles area.”

As Vice President of Business Development, Todd is responsible for leading the hospital’s marketing and communication efforts, physician recruitment and retention, community outreach, and development of new business opportunities. He will also oversee the daily operations of The Tom Bradley Center for Health Care housed in Angelus Plaza. Founded in 1980, Angelus Plaza is an affordable senior living community located in downtown Los Angeles. Since then, Good Samaritan doctors have been providing on-site health care services to its residents made possible through its partnership with The Tom Bradley Center for Health Care.

Working closely with our President and CEO Andrew B. Leeka, Chairman of the Board, Charles T. Munger along with the Board of Trustees, Todd will develop strategies to make their vision for the future of the Hospital a reality. “They set the vision and the tone for the Hospital and I try to crystallize those goals into executable actions that will bring momentum to the organization,” he explained.

Welcome Todd to our Good Samaritan family!
We celebrated our victory in February 2017 at the Good Company Awards Luncheon where awards were given to those employees who reach their potential in cumulative giving. These categories include $1,000, $5,000, and $7,500. All of the cumulative giving categories are significant to the vital mission of Good Samaritan Hospital as we strive to deliver excellent health care and continue to remain a Center of Excellence.

The members of Good Company are employee partners who demonstrate a belief in our vital health care mission and the future of Good Samaritan Hospital. Each year, employees demonstrate their support by making a charitable donation to the hospital.

2017 was no different as the Good Company Employee Campaign proved to be another year of great success, raising $146,034.64 from 226 employee donors. Some of the programs that are employee favorites include the Cancer program, the Child Care Center, the Heart and Vascular Center, the Junior Scholarship program and the general operation of our great institution. Many thanks to the 226 employees who supported the 2017 Good Company campaign!
Regardless of your life circumstances or estate size, your will is perhaps the most important document you will create.

It expresses your values and also effectively provides for the people and charitable causes important to you. If you’ve been putting it off, here are eight important reminders why you need a will.

1. Without a will, your state’s laws – not you – determine how, when and to whom your property is distributed.

2. You can reduce (or maybe even eliminate) future estate taxes.

3. You can name your executor (a person, bank or trust company you choose to personally represent you) to manage and settle your estate.

4. You can designate beneficiaries for items such as heirlooms, art, jewelry or real estate.

5. You may create trusts to provide for your spouse, children and others.

6. Through a “pour-over” will, you can transfer leftover assets to your living trust.

7. You can support Good Samaritan Hospital through a gift in your will, which is simple, flexible and revocable at any time.

8. You can designate the guardian for dependents under your care.

We can help provide gift planning information to you and your professional advisors at no cost or obligation. Simply contact Brian Thorne, Vice President, Fund Development at (213) 482-2774 or bthorne@goodsam.org. Please let us know if you would like to receive our “Wills Planning Guide.”

Important Reminder
If you already have a will, make sure it’s up-to-date. Life changes such as grown kids, births, deaths or marriages, increased estate value, or a move to another state should be a trigger to meet with your estate planning attorney to review your will.

Step by Step: How to Create Your Will
• List all of your major assets.
• Decide which individuals or organizations you want to receive specific possessions or a share of your assets.
• Contact an attorney who specializes in estate planning.
• Determine who will be your executor.
• Have your attorney draft your will.
• Sign and date it before witnesses. (In some states, it must be notarized to be valid.)
• Keep it in a safe place and make sure others know where it is and have access to it.

MISSION STATEMENT
Good Samaritan Hospital is a progressive, tertiary, nonprofit hospital. Our Mission is to provide accessible, quality, cost-effective and compassionate health care services that meet the needs of our patients and their families, the community and physicians.

Good Samaritan Hospital’s Centers of Excellence focus on advancing the science of medicine and providing outstanding health care.

We will manage our resources responsibly, maintaining the financial viability necessary for success.
A Loving Start for Every Baby...
Loving Care for Every Family!

At Good Samaritan Hospital, we believe that every baby is precious and deserving of the best. The Davajan-Cabal Center for Perinatal Medicine is dedicated to providing expectant mothers and their babies the most comprehensive and specialized health care services available.

“Jack is almost 3! He is a happy, adventurous little boy. He loves bubbles and to play ball. He is learning to count to 100 and enjoys playing at Good Sam’s Child Care Center,” says Anne Hutton of the outstanding care Jack received from Drs. Minoj Biniwale, Matt Lee, Smeeta Sardesai and the neonatal team at Good Sam.

Your ongoing support has enabled Good Sam to provide the best in critical care to our most fragile patients and expectant mothers. We hope you will join us today in our efforts to raise $3.5 million to our Mother and Baby Care Campaign to purchase state-of-the-art equipment and improve our perinatal facilities.

As a nonprofit hospital, we rely on community support to provide exceptional and compassionate care to all our patients and their families. Please consider a gift to Good Sam and help make a difference in the lives of our most fragile patients.

To make a gift or for further information, please contact Keri Eisenberg, Sr. Director of Fund Development at (213) 977-2921 or keisenberg@goodsam.org.
